J. J. CRUSMAN TO THE LADIES
Who read the CHRONICLE, (and of course all who want to keep well posted in matters of interest), I wish to say a few words in regard to the Pure Mohairs and Bk' Alpaccas regularly kept in my stock. They have now stood the test for several years. They have been pronounced the cheapest in the market. They are admitted to be the prettiest. My assortment is very complete. I ask you to try these goods. I have sold large quantities. Have just added a New supply for January and February sales. If you will look I think you will be convinced that it is greatly to your advantage to buy. Certainly no one can offer you greater inducements: few, if any, as great. To one other Department I also beg your special attention, viz:

MANUFACTURING IN CLARKSVILLE.
A Practical Plan Proposed.

To establish manufacturing in this city has become a necessity to all classes, not only in Clarksville but also in the surrounding country. It matters not what one's profession or calling may be, all are alike interested in the consumption of some practical plan by which the volume and variety of business may be increased, and a better market created for agricultural products. We are all striving to make money. The common want of the world is money. All our daily labors and constant endeavors are for money. Some seek it for purely selfish purposes; others toil for it with more generous aims. Some strive for great wealth; others feel that they would be contented with a moderate competence. But all want money. And yet the fact stares us in the face, however unwilling we may be to acknowledge it, that in this section, there is little chance to gain except through another's loss. As we are now situated, it is indisputably true, that opportunities to make money here, without unintentionally impoverishing the community or some portion of it, are exceedingly limited. We do not wish to be misunderstood. Some of our people are doing profitable business; and, so far as we know, all are striving in a legitimate way either to increase their wealth or, at least, to make an honest living. We wish to be understood as giving credit to all our fellow-citizens for the same honesty of purpose and integrity in their daily transactions, which we claim for ourselves. Indeed, we as citizens with confidence, that in this city and in the surrounding country, we have an unusually large number of high-toned, honorable business men. We are proud of the commercial uprightness and fair dealing of our community. But it is none the less true, that, inasmuch as we consume all, if not more than all, we produce, general wealth is augmented, if at all, very slightly; and hence the individual can accumulate only at the expense of his fellows. Let us enumerate some of the facts, which bear upon this matter.

1. We manufacture hardly anything which we use. This pen, ink and paper, the clothes which we wear, that grate, coal-scuttle and shovel, these books of reference, our carpets, window-curtains and blankets, every nail, screw and bolt which we use, our buckets and tubs, ax-helves, clothes, and, in short, almost every manufactured article used by civilized man, from the cradle to the coffin, is made abroad and brought to us over long lines of transportation. And we pay not only the cost of production but also, in the course of a year, vast sums for freight and handling. It is true, that not far from here are a few furnaces, (most of them operating upon small scale), that make some iron of excellent quality, but not much more than the amount consumed in this section in one form or another.

2. The best iron produced on the western continent is made within forty miles of Clarksville. Yet before the iron can be used, it must be shaped for use, that is, manufactured into railroad iron, nails, horseshoes, etc., it is transported at great cost hundreds of miles, and finally brought back and sold here with all the charges for manufacturing, commissions and freight added. For example, we wish to purchase a team engine. If there were a rolling mill here for the manufacture of puddled iron, and such a machine shop as Clarksville ought to have, we could buy it here and save considerable expense in the way of freights. And what is still more important, the money, which we would pay our home-manufacturers, would be paid out by them again as wages to their mechanics and laborers. They, in turn, would give to our market and pay it over to the farmers and producers, generally, of the surrounding country for the necessities of life.

3. We have beautiful, and fertile farming lands all around us. Our farmers are generally rewarded for their labor with bountiful crops. Our climate is mild and favorable to outdoor work the year round. And yet there is a disadvantage, that outweighs all the natural advantages with which we are so blessed. The single word, EXPENSE expresses it all. Not having built up manufactures in our midst, having no large population of artisans and workmen to consume the products of the soil, near at home, and without expensive transportation to some distant place, farmers are told, (and they are told in this city not two months ago), that they must take Louisville prices less the freight to that point. The prices paid at the pork house here, during last month, for hogs were less than the prices paid in Louisville by the cost of transportation to that point. Now, if there had existed, at that time, a population of fifteen or twenty thousand in this city, drawn hither by the establishment of manufactures, our farmers could have sold in the market thus created here, and would have realized all that they did at the present time, and would have paid the transportation to Louisville. This is true also of other farm products. But the difficulty is greatly increased by the present lack of competing lines of transportation.

4. Considering, then, that we manufacture little or nothing, and that our agricultural products must be sold at a great disadvantage, it would be a wonder if the aggregate wealth of our community were to increase, as long as the present condition of things continues. There are here and there instances of individual gain, but a community can increase its wealth only by productive labor. Agriculture alone will not enrich a people; it must be combined with manufactures and trade.

in order to make those engaged in it truly prosperous. In view of all these facts, we propose a plan of co-operation, by which every particle of financial strength, not otherwise employed, in our community may be united, and all directed to the development of manufactures. We have capitalists among us, who could do this. But whether they will or not, they have the right to do as they please with their own money. If they will help us, so much the better; but if they will not, we believe it can be shown that by small capitalists, and each man who can help a little, combining together, we can initiate the establishment of manufactures in this city. We do not propose a joint stock company. Manufacturers to be successful require the directing energies and judgment of one who has a moneyed interest at stake. Our plan can be found fully set forth on the third page of this paper.

DEATH OF NAPOLEON III.
At Chislehurst, Jan. 9th, at 25 minutes past 10 o'clock, A. M., died Charles Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, in the 66th year of his age. He was born in Paris on the 20th of April, 1808. A few days previous to his death a surgical operation had been performed upon him for gravel, which was shortly afterward followed by a second operation. The physicians who attended him, had agreed, upon consultation, to perform a third operation at noon on the day of his death. He suffered much, but endured pain with great fortitude. His death took every one by surprise. The physicians state that death resulted from causes independent of the surgical operations to which the patient was subjected. The body will be interred at Chislehurst until it can be removed to France.

When news of the death was received in Paris, the Imperialists, of course, were profoundly affected and appealed to regard the event as a first blow to their policy. The Moniteur of Paris, an influential financial organ, closes its brief article with the following tribute: "The disasters which have made shipwreck of the Empire, will not cause to be forgotten the great services Napoleon has rendered to the nation in re-establishing order and developing the prosperity of the country."

An exchange says that the appointment of Orr of South Carolina Minister to Russia, is conclusive proof that Grant feels no hostility to the South. On the contrary, we think it is evidence of abiding hostility to that section. Rewarding such treason to the Constitution and the liberties of the people, is a trick whereby other men of similar mold, may be enticed into the ranks of the enemies of free government. Grant has had ample opportunities for displaying good will to the South, and in a more signal manner than rewarding such traitors, but having failed to avail himself of them, the inference is conclusive against the suggestion that, in rewarding Orr he was actuated by the feeling imputed to him.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.
We publish the following extracts from the Governor's message. Not having space for the entire message, we reprint only such portions as are likely to be of most interest to our readers:

FINANCIAL.
I respectfully suggest that you and the entire bond debt of the State, including, of course, the past due coupons in a new series of bonds running forty years to maturity, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. annum, payable in January and July of each year.

I further recommend that interest be paid upon the funded debt, and that provision be made for such payment to commence as early as possible, not to be oppressive to the tax-payer. No good reason can be seen why the interest on the debt should be paid in advance, should not commence as early as July, 1874.

This measure, if adopted, should provide for the funding of all well ascertained liabilities of the State, other than what is recognized as the floating debt.

I recommend, too, that you declare whether or not the State shall pay interest upon bonds, after their maturity, until funded. There is no legislative authority for such a declaration, and the authorities on the subject are conflicting.

In any event, I advise a repeal of all laws authorizing the raising of money by the sale of bonds, and the funding or novation of bonds and coupons. They are partial, and to some extent difficult of interpretation.

ASSESSMENTS.
The assessment of property for taxation and especially of real estate, is unequal, and the system is in need of reform. In my message to the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, I said, upon this subject:

"I therefore, recommend that, as an amendment to the present system, the County Courts be required to appoint, for their respective counties, a Board of Revenue Assessors, consisting of three persons, one of whom shall be chosen by the County Court, and the other two by the duty of assessing all taxable property in their respective counties, and that they shall be required to report to the County Court, at the next session, a list of the names of the property owners, with the amount of the assessed value of their property, in the form of a list, and that the County Court, in the form of a list, shall be required to report to the Board of Assessors on or before the first day of January next, a list of the names of the property owners, with the amount of the assessed value of their property, in the form of a list, and that the County Court, in the form of a list, shall be required to report to the Board of Assessors on or before the first day of January next, a list of the names of the property owners, with the amount of the assessed value of their property, in the form of a list, and that the County Court, in the form of a list, shall be required to report to the Board of
